It's time for a new directory.

Tiffany has been and will continue taking photos each week before Sunday School and after worship until Thanksgiving. Afterwards, she will reach out to those she has photographed be sure your contact information is correct.

This time it will not be a formal, printed directory, but we would like to have a current directory with pictures of the people in our church.

Once your photo has been taken, please respond to the message to confirm your information is accurate.

We are including birthdays and anniversaries for those who wish to have it included.

If you are currently participating via Facebook or already in your winter home? Send your photo to clarioncoc@wmtel.net to be included.

Directories will be e-mailed out once completed.

We had our own "Great Pumpkin" complete with some of the characters handing out rocks. (See later in the newsletter.)

Trunk or Treat 2021

Kara and Warren remembered how cold it was last time, so brought their own camp fire.

Noah's ark came to rest by the office, bringing a few animals along.

Chewing on God's Word

God's word, unlike bubble gum, never loses it's flavor. And once we've meditated or chewed on it a while, we become more flexible and useful to God. He can stretch us and fill us and use us.

Many tracks were handed out along with the candy. Over 100 children (plus parents) came by. Some with connections to this church, most without one.

A giant mouth for all the treats... or the perfect size for the huge gumballs across the parking lot.

It's the little things.

Thank you to the many people within the congregation who take care of the little things that most of us don't notice...until something is wrong.

Jerry fixing a toilet.

Chad replacing the projector bulb.

Keith getting sound back after the computer updated.

Barb, Lisa and Nancy for decorating around the church

Adam and Rachelle for replacing the lights around the outside of the office.

Caleb for mowing the lawn.

Kaci has kept the OCC supplies organized

We also had some outside help this month.

The phone company worked on improving the line that goes to the elevator in case of an emergency call.

The elevator company then came back and installed a new emergency call phone. They also cleaned out the smoke alarm, that had tripped during the service on October 10th. Everything is back to normal, working order.
